Bring On The Good Life – For Everybody? Participation Of Refugees In The Solidarity Economy

08. SEPTEMBER 2017 UM 13:00 – 18:00 UHR

- Languages/Translation: German, English. We're trying to organize translation into other languages. Please ask..
- Participation is free of charge.
- Participation: If you've got any questions or if you want to participate in that event, please write a short email to: jendo.berlin@gmx.de

To economize in solidarity means to give priority to and to take care of human needs, a fair and mindful community and ecological concerns. On that afternoon we want to invite you to the Gärtnerei, a gardening and community project and a learning space in Berlin Neukölln, which has been co-created by old and new Berliners. The garden provides a space and opportunity for exchanging about wishes for the future, about difficulties, but also about chances regarding the access to the labour market, education and professional training. Together you we would like to explore the following questions: Which opportunities for participation and involvement do solidary economy projects provide for refugees? What can companies do to make labour and professional training more accessible to refugees? Which obstacles do still exist? And what could be steps to reduce and dismantle these obstacles and to make solidary-based projects more accessible?

Partners are Graefewirtschaft, the Gärtnerei, SOLIDRINKS and global e.V., which will present their projects. These projects work in the field of solidary economy and in different branches (catering/gastronomy, gardening/handcrafts, marketing and education). They also provide assess for refugees.

The tour is specifically for refugees who want to learn about the structures of the associations and are motivated to add their perspectives.

Directions to the Gärtnerei / Coop Campus

- Address: Die Gärtnerei, Hermannstraße 84, 12051 Berlin
- How to get there with public transport: The Gärtnerei / Coop Campus is located right next to U-Bahn station Leinestraße (U8). From the platform of the U-Bahn: take the southern exit of the U-Bahn station (exit in the direction of „Hermannstraße, Leinestraße, Tempelhofer Feld“). After exiting the station just go straight. You will see the blue sign of „Coop Campus“ in front of you on the righthand side of that street. Between the sign and the Falafel shop you will find the entrance to the Gärtnerei.
